7. Copyright Release: Copyright laws make it necessary for the American Sheep Industry Association, Inc. (ASI) to obtain a release from authors for all materials published. To this end, we ask you to grant us all rights, including subsidiary rights, for your article. You will hereby be relinquishing to ASI all control over this material, such as rights to make or authorize reprints, to reproduce the material in other publications, and to grant the material to others without charge for any book of which you are the author or editor after it has appeared in the Sheep & Goat Journal.

Whereas the ASI is undertaking to publish electronically the Sheep & Goat Research Journal, of which the undersigned is author of one or more parts, the author grants and assigns exclusively to ASI for its use any and all rights of whatsoever kind or nature now or hereafter protected by the copyright laws (common or statutory) of the United States and all foreign countries in all languages in and to the above-named article, including all subsidiary rights. ASI, in turn, grants to the author(s) the right of republication in any book of which he is author or editor, subject only to his giving proper credit in the book to the Sheep & Goat Journal, published by ASI.

Each author agrees that the material furnished for Sheep & Goat Journal has not been published previously elsewhere. Otherwise, the author guarantees that if it has been previously published in whole or in part, permission has been obtained from author(s) and publisher for reproduction in the Sheep & Goat Journal, and the author will submit copy for the credit lines with the manuscript.

The corresponding author will be given an opportunity to read and correct the edited manuscript in electronic format, but if the author fails to return proofs to the technical editor of Sheep & Goat Journal within the time specified, production and publication may proceed without the author's approval of the edited manuscript.

The author(s) will receive no monetary return from the ASI for the use of material contained in the manuscript.
